DR. CORBETT'S SYRUP OF SARSAPARILLA

EFFECTS WONDERS!

Read the remarkable case of JOHN DAVIS,

Student of Rev. Edw. T. Taylor's Church, Boston.

1, the undersigned, Student of the Church of that good man, Father Taylor, state the following facts, which I think should be told to the world.

I was born in England, and am now forty years of age. My parents were healthy, and I was not afflicted by any disease until the year 1845. I was then teaching in Boston. At that time my skin became affected to a degree, which at times was so much excruciating, and so much sores and abscesses developed themselves: I was so much afflicted, that I was unable to attend to my duties, and I was so much afflicted, that I was unable to attend to my duties, and I was so much afflicted, that I was unable to attend to my duties, and I was so much afflicted, that I was unable to

I am glad that the Newport News contains my incidental statement that Mr. Cahoon had refused to report to the General Assembly certain items of expenditure growing out of the Algerine war of 1812. I am glad of it, for the detail calls attention to the fact, which every man in the State besides the Editor of the News, knows to be true. I had spare time, this morning, I would refer Mr. Cranston to several copies of his Law and Order Senate, within the last four years, which fully prove my statement. It is in my recollection that these items were distinctly called for, twice at least; and that the only reply which the call elicited, was denounced as an insult by Whigs, and was voted to be sent back by the Senate. The Editor of the News to my put this latter disclosure in his paper, and I am glad to see it. I gather up my baggage, and commit myself to the Perry for a ride up the Bay.—Profr. Post.

The editor of the Post does not seem to be satisfied by simply asserting what is untrue, but he reiterates his misstatements, and glories in his false position. He persists that the Senate has called for items, at least twice, and that the only reply which the call elicited, was denounced as an insult by Whigs, and was voted to be sent back by the Senate. We repeat again that there is no foundation for these assertions, and when the editor of the Post makes the charges, he commits a gross libel upon the character of Stephen Cahoon.—a libel which will be warmly reprobated by the county of Newport, where Stephen Cahoon has been well and thoroughly known as a business man for more than half a century, and which will also be resented by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. If there is a man on this earth who is eminently honest, in the strictest sense of that word, in all the relations of life, who has sustained a perfectly unblemished character through a long series of years and amid all the contentions and varied changes of time,—that man is Stephen Cahoon. He is entirely above the little bickerings of party strife, a man who discharges every duty in the most faithful and conscientious manner, and, above all, a man who would not swerve from the path of rectitude to save his own right arm. When the youthful editor of the Post makes these false charges against the venerable and respected Stephen Cahoon, he does not injure the man or the Treasurer, but he degrades himself, and shows how party spleen and bitterness may sway a man to the commission of a contemptible act, and induce him to attempt to belaud a character of purity, and to insult old age which is honored and respected for.

We ask the editor of the Post to name the particular time when the Treasurer was called upon by the Assembly for official information, which he refused to render; and we also ask the editor to state precisely what the desired information was. Whenever Mr. Cahoon has been called upon for information relative to the finances of the State, he has always responded to the call as promptly as the character and details of the information would admit of,—whether assents to the contrary, unless what he knows to be untrue.

After the Dorrists had made all the trouble that it was in their power to create, and caused the State to put down the rebellion at a heavy expense, these same mischief-makers were constantly talking about the enormous expenses of the Algerine Administration, while they would know that these identical expenses were created by their treacherous operations. Some three or four years ago, before these expenses had all settled, at the urgent request of some of the Dorrists in the Assembly, a resolution was hastily passed, calling upon the Treasurer to report at that session, which was then near its close, the whole amount of the expenses of the Dorr war. It was a moral impossibility for mortal man to comply with this call, because the Treasurer himself did not know what many of the orders on the Treasury from the Governor and Council were for; they made their orders and he paid them, as it was his duty to do, they having the power to draw. The Treasurer, therefore, could not know and does not know, to this day, the precise amount of the expenses of that rebellion; and no man ever can know them. He stated these facts most respectfully to the Assembly, and they were satisfied,—the charge of the editor of the Post to the contrary notwithstanding.

What is a Name?—The following notice was recently received at the Post Office in this town:—“Promoters are particularly requested to send all letters directed to Squawbuck, East Taunton, Taunton Iron Works, Old Colony Iron Works, or New Forge, to SQUAWBUCK, TY Post Office, which will prevent unnecessary delay in the arrival of matter coming to this office.” Squawbuck! good conscience what a name!

Hon. Chris. J. McGarry, of Lynn, Conn., late Lt. Governor of that State, has been appointed Minister to Austria.

We learn that Mr. Henry M. Brownell intends placing bathing-houses on the Beach just South of the Lily Pond; this summer, for the accommodation of those who enjoy the salt-water. We consider this pleasanter than the Town Beach, in many respects; and it certainly is more retired, and will be preferred by those who bathe for the purpose of health, or as a quiet luxury. But those who go into the surf every day merely because it is fashionable, and remain there so long as to injure their health, will, of course, go where the crowd is, even should it be in the public harbor, if it is filled with vessels which constantly endangered the lives of those in the water. Those who are the chained slaves of Fashion can never regard consequences, however fatal they may be.

We are indebted to the Hon. U. F. Cleveland for a copy of his late speech on the California question.

In consequence of the accident to the steamer Bay State, she did not arrive here yesterday; the mail came by the Stonington route.

Under date of Canton, Feb. 23d, 1850, the Rev. Geo. Loomis, Chaplain to Seamen, writes to the office of the American Seaman's Friend Society:—

Report is current here, that Sr Jhu Franklin has made the North West passage, and is safe. (No doubt the echo of rumors heretofore current among us.)—Also, that the Emperor of China is dead.—The wife of the Rev. Mr. Whilden, of the Southern Baptist Board, was buried at Whampoa on Thursday. It becomes my duty to preach the funeral discourse on the occasion, tomorrow, at Canton.

PRESENTATION.—Capt. T. G. Jewett, of the steamer “State of Maine,” was last evening presented with a splendid silver pitcher, at the Tremont House. The present was made by his personal friends as a token of their esteem for the gallant captain as a worthy commander, an accomplished gentleman, and a faithful friend.—The compliment is a handsome one, and yet it is one well deserved. Mr. Edward Riddle made a very pleasant address of presentation, to which Capt. Jewett replied in the most happy manner. The affair, altogether, was one of the most delightful characters.—Boston Rec.

Dr. Judson, the revered Burmah Missionary, we regret to learn, was not expected to live at the date of the last address from his residence. In a letter to Mr. Haywell, dated Dec. 21st, he says:—

“I was plodding on in the dictionary when attacked by the fever, and know not now when I shall be able to resume my labors. I should be glad to live long enough to finish that work on which I have spent so much time, but our times are in the hands of Him who has no doubt been decided before this, and if he has been removed with this great work unfinished, the Providence would seem truly mysterious.—N. Y. Express.”

The Rev. Charles T. Brooks received a telegraphic despatch from Christopher Rhodes, Esq., of St. Louis, last evening, stating that Sullivan Randolph, son of the late Richard K. Randolph, Esq., of this town, died, of Cholera, at St. Louis, last Monday evening, at 6 o'clock.

The lecture on Psychology at Masonic Hall will be given this evening, by Dr. Tew.

IMPORTANT FROM HAYTI.—Dates from Cape Haytien to April 28, have been received in this city by the arrival of the brig Silenus. The report of the imprisonment of Mr. Wilson, the American Consul at Cape Haytien, which was received several weeks since by way of Turkey Island, is fully confirmed. It appears that he was arrested by the government officers for doing what he believed to be his duty. His whole offence was in ordering the seals to be removed from an American vessel, so that she could receive a lighter load of coffee, which had arrived alongside on Saturday afternoon, when the weather threatened a tempest.—The hatches of every foreign vessel in port, are by order of the authorities, ordered to be sealed up, excepting when the government officers are on board. Consequently, no cargo can be received only under their supervision.

But in this case, the weather being so threatening, it would have been a shameful waste of property to have left the coffee exposed in an open lighter, consequently Mr. Wilson ordered the hatches to be removed; and it is for this act that he was subsequently incarcerated.

The French Consul, however, interfered and procured his release—and the latest dates from Cape Haytien state that Mr. Wilson had been summoned by the black officials to appear before their tribunal to answer to the charge, and had left for Port au Prince for that purpose.—Boston Journal.

STUDY.

From the Italian of Silvio Pellico.

As soon as you are able; it becomes a sacred duty to cultivate your mind. You will be latter able thereby to honour God, your country, your parents, and your friends. The raving of Rousseau, that the savage is the happiest of men, and that ignorance is preferable to knowledge, is proved false by experience. All travellers have found the savage far from being happy. We all know that the ignorant may be virtuous; but the educated man ought to be so in a still more eminent degree.

Knowledge is never injurious, except when allied with pride. Let it be accompanied by humility, and it raises the mind to the love of God and of humanity.

Apply yourself to learn well and thoroughly what you do learn. Superficial learning produces presumptions and mediocre men, who, in secret consciousness of their own inferiority, gather together other smatterings like themselves, and cry out to the world that they alone are great, and that the really great are no bodies. Hence proceed the perpetual war of pendants against men of genius, and of vain declaimers against sound philosophers; and thus the many are deluded into a veneration for the loudest but most ignorant declaimers. Our age is not want of men of extraordinary attainments, but the superficial shamefully abound. Seem to be of their number; not through vanity, but through sentiment of duty, through love of country, through self-respect, and an esteem for the mind with which the Creator has endowed you.

It may not be in your power to become deeply versed in many branches of learning; you may, however, run lightly through them, in order not to be ignorant of things which all are bound to know. You should select, however, some one branch of knowledge, and apply your whole mind to it, with a determination not to be left behind by any one.

Excellent is the counsel of Seneca. “Do you wish your reading should leave a lasting impression on your mind? Confine yourself to a few sound authors, and endeavour to imbibe their spirit. To be everywhere is much the same as being nowhere. A life passed in traveling makes many acquaintances, and a few friends. Such is the case with the desultory reader, who, without predilection for any particular author, runs hastily through an infinite number of books.”

Whatever may be the nature of the study to which you devote yourself, you should guard against a very common fault, that of becoming so exclusive an admirer of your own pursuits as to undervalue those studies to which you have not been able to apply.

How very peculiar are the boasts of poets over prose writers, of prose writers over poets, of naturalists over metaphysicians, of metaphysicians over naturalists, and of all the sciences, all the arts, all the several modes of attaining to the true and beautiful, are entitled to the homage of society, and particularly to that of the educated man.

It is not true that the exact sciences and poetry are incompatible. Duffon was a great naturalist, yet his style displays very striking poetic beauties. Mascheroni was a good poet and an excellent mathematician.

In cultivating poetry and Belles Lettres, be careful not to incommensurate your mind from applying to exact and logical deductions.

If the eagle were to say, “It is my nature to fly, I cannot meditate except flying,” it would be ridiculous. He may equally employ his meditative faculties with his wings closed.

On the other hand, the calmness of mind required by studies of observation, must not lead you to believe that man is perfect when he has extinguished every spark of fancy and every poetic sentiment. For poetry, when properly cultivated, instead of weakening, tends to strengthen the reasoning faculties.

In literature as well as in politics, distrust factions and systems; examine them in order to know them, compare them with others, and form your judgment of them; but do not make yourself their slave.

In all your studies endeavor to combine a calm discernment with acumen, the patience of analysis and the force of synthetic investigation. Add to these the determination not to be disheartened by obstacles, nor rendered proud by success; that is to say, the determination to cultivate your mind, in the manner permitted by God, with boldness, but without arrogance.

SUBSCRIBER.

A prisoner brought up in court, the following dialogue passed between him and the sitting magistrate:

“How do you live?”

“Pretty well, sir; generally a joint and pudding at dinner.”

“I mean, sir, how do you get your bread?”

“I beg your worship's pardon; sometimes at the baker's and sometimes at the grocer's.”

“You may be as witty as you please, sir; but I mean simply to ask you, how do you do?”

“Tolerably well, I thank your worship; I hope your worship is well.”

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, May 14.

SENATE.—Mr. Dickinson reported back the deficiency bill and recommended that the Senate concur in the House amendments, which was carried.

The bill to regulate the appointments and pay of engineers in the United States Navy, was taken up and passed.

The census bill was then called up. The committee reported, and the Senate voted to disagree to the House amendments of the first section.

HOUSE.—The House met at the usual hour and after the reading of the journal, Mr. Stanley offered a resolution that the debate on the President's California message be terminated on the first Tuesday in June.

The yeas and nays were called on the motion of Mr. Caldwell, of North Carolina, to lay on the table Mr. Stanley's resolution.

The House refused to lay it on the table by a nearly sectional vote.

Mr. Igo then moved a call of the House and the call is now proceeding.

NEW ORLEANS, Saturday, May 11. During the past few days, considerable quantities of arms and ammunition have been received, and several vessels have left, with men, artillery, &c., ostensibly for Chagres, but supposed bound for the invasion of Cuba. Yesterday, the Spanish Consul offered $5,000 for the charter of a steamer to convey despatches to Cuba. The owners, however, refused, and the Consul then sent them in a fast schooner.

ST. LOUIS, May 13. Two fatal cases of cholera occurred today. The interments in 12 cemeteries for the week 94; of which 27 were cholera.—There are five cemeteries that have not reported; there will not greatly increase the aggregate result. The weather is quite unfavorable.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which has been in session from the 1st inst. appointed a committee to ascertain whether they could with safety continue their session.—That committee reported yesterday that there is no cause of alarm.

WASHINGTON, May 14.

John R. Bartlett, of New York, has been appointed, by the President, U. S. Commissioner, to run the boundary between the United States and Mexico.

The Republic of this morning contains the valedictory address of its late editors, Messrs. Bullitt and Sargent. Mr. B. intimates that he retires from his connection with the paper, on account of a misunderstanding with the members of the Cabinet. They however speak in exalted terms of President Fremont.

The Intelligence says:—“We now therefore state, on the authority of the President, that he lends no countenance to any attempt, from whatever quarter it comes, to disturb or unsettle his administration. As it is, all statements or inferences to the contrary are utterly without foundation.” It also announces, semi-officially, that the Cabinet will remain unchanged for the present.

Much excitement exists, at present, in the Capital.

A letter just received here states that a conspiracy has been discovered among the slaves in Union township, Monroe County, Virginia, planning an insurrection, and the indiscriminate murder of all the white inhabitants, after which they proposed escaping to Ohio. A negro girl gave information of the plot, and six of the conspirators have been arrested and imprisoned.

NEW YORK, May 14, 1850.

There is a rumor about that the “Mr. French and party,” which appears in the passenger list of the steamer Georgia (which sailed for Chagres from this port on Monday), is a disguised reinforcement for the Cuba expedition. There are strong grounds to believe the rumor is founded in fact.

It is said also that numerous passengers and parties of armed men have left this city in other steamers recently, and their destination was not known even to themselves.

They were supplied with everything they desired.

The tents of General Lopez have been made in certain of our warehouses here, and outfits of various kinds have been prepared.

COLLISION AND STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT.—The steamer Bay State, Captain Brown, on her trip from Fall River this morning, when off New Haven, came in contact with a brig. The steamer started her stem, but the brig received very little damage.

The Bay State brought to the city the passengers of the propeller Shencket, which had met with some accident to her boiler, which prevented her from proceeding. The propeller was boarded by the steamer at about five o'clock this morning.

Com. Adm., Tuesday.

ENGLAND.—The London Times says an amount of £45,000 is now being raised in the London Markets in behalf of the local Government of Canada. The security consists of Debentures bearing 6 per cent. interest.

SINGULAR.—A STRANGER FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The Rochester Democrat mentioning the receipt of the Polynesian, Sandwich Islands paper, up to the 24th of March, says:—

Upon removing the wrapper from the paper dated March 2d, and unfolding it, a beautiful fly, with wings as white and glossy as the purest satin, and a body transparently white, arose from the sheet in which it had been so long imprisoned, and had made so extensive a journey, and with a musical buzzing, flew through our sanctum, finally returning to the editor's table, and settling near where the gas light was burning.

We welcomed the beautiful stranger very heartily to our elime, but feared that its delicate habits would not be suited to an atmosphere so cold as ours. Our fears were, however, soon ended by a catastrophe. A friend of ours, who was with us at the time—one curious in things pertaining to natural science—was very desirous to possess this tiny creature, and in his ardent endeavor to capture it, had the misfortune to so bruise and injure it, that it soon died; thus finding that it had crossed wide seas, and journeyed far, to meet its death among a savage people.

UPPER CANADA BIBLE SOCIETY.

The meeting of this institution was held last Wednesday at Toronto, the Hon. Robert Baldwin presiding. After an address by the presiding officer, the annual report was read. The receipts during the year were $4,508.07, and the expenditures $4,308. The issues of Bibles and Testaments were 13,596. During the same time 3527 copies of the Scriptures, with the Scotch version of the Psalms, were published making a total of 17,423, being an increase of 1651, over the previous year.

TO CURE A BURN.—Anoint the part with oil or lard and cover with fine salt. Simple and certain!

T. BELCHER KAY, now in California, has retired from the ring, and is now turning his attention to politics. He was a candidate for harbor master, and lost his election by only a few votes.

THE COMPROMISE.—The Washington Republic expresses its belief that the “great platform of compromise” proposed by the committee of thirteen will yet be adopted. The signs, it says, are more cheering than heretofore.

MARRIED.

In Boston, 13th inst., at King's Chapel, by Rev. Dr. Dealby, Francis Parkman, Jr., to Catherine Seely, daughter of Dr. Jacob Bigelow.

GIVE IT A TRIAL! GROUND STARCH—A SUPERIOR ARTICLE.

THE subscribers having been appointed Agents for the sale of Ground Starch Family Starch, are now prepared to furnish Grocers and Families with this most valuable article, warranted cheap and superior to any other for family purposes.

Being entirely free from all impurities, this Starch may be used with the most confidence in starching the finest Muslins and Linens. The superior whiteness of this Starch and the ingredients with which it is made, render wholly unnecessary the use of Starch Polish or Spermace, as it produces a fine polish without staining or injuring the fabric, which is inevitably the case from the constant use of oily matter. It is also never unfavorably affected when clothes are exposed in frosty weather.

Also, a very nice article for Puddings; no family should be without this valuable article. Put up neatly in pound packages, and for sale wholesale or retail, by DAVIS & SON, 4 and 6 Market square. may 10
